Excerpt: .most summers and all winters a quaking morass. Towards the centre of this moss, which is about 60 acres in area, there is a circular enclosure 54 feet in diameter, surrounded by a low wall. This is marked in the Ordnance Survey maps as a fort; but no fort, in the ordinary acceptation, could exist in the centre of what had been at no very great distance of time a lake. Although no timbers were visible at the time of our visit, the whole surface of the enclosure being green with grass, and the surrounding moss covered with heather and bog plants, its situation and character indicated its true character to those experienced in lake-dwellings, and a very slight excavation at once confirmed this view. Beginning in the centre the diggers exposed beneath the shallow layer of vegetable soil the familiar features of a fascine...
