The Woman in White, done in 1871 as a poster for Wilkie Collins dramatised novel, 85 in. by 51 in. , 32 gns. ; and a picture by L. B. Hurt, Leaving the Hills, 30 in. by 50 in. , 120 gns. The extraordinary collection of leaves taken from early printed books, to which reference was made last month, was formed by Mr. Von Holtorp, who for half a century has been accumulating and arranging specimen pages of nearly all the old printers of Germany, France, Italy, England, the Netherlands and Spain, Xylographic illustrations, Colophons, Devices, Portraits, Woodcuts by old masters, and other memorials of the printed book, which he happened to come across during the course of his very protracted search. Each specimen was mounted on thick cardboard and arranged in chronological order, with notes of identification, so that it was possible to...

Reviews

This ebook is indeed gripping and fascinating. it had been writtern really properly and helpful. I am very easily could possibly get a satisfaction of reading a published publication.
